Represented in this design are the tools used by the local Whadjuk People of Walyalup (Fremantle) region to survive, thrive and live in abundance for millennia, since the Dreaming. The wanna (women's digging stick) is a tool used for empowerment, guidance and leadership. The coolamon is a gathering and cradling tool used for nurturing and abundance. The three kylie (boomerangs) seen have specific purposes, some for fishing, hunting, fighting or music. Fremantle College's motto of strength, respect and success align with the ancient wisdom of the local Whadjuk Noongar culture that worked in a cyclical pattern with each other and the environment to ensure the strength of the people, the respect for others and the environment as well as successful lives lead by lifelong learning and curiosity. The graphic depicts the circular motion of these tools in a pattern together that centres music and ceremony at the heart, surrounded by People, moving and dancing together on country.
